UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Plaintiff,	Case No. 2:12-mj-00605-GWF
vs.	ORDER
ANTHONY MANUEL SALOME,	Motion to Sever (#21); Motion to Reveal Confidential Informant (#24)
Defendant.

These matters come before the Court on two motions. Defendant Anthony Salome ("Defendant") filed a Motion to Sever (#21) on November 7, 2012, to which Plaintiff responded (#22) on November 13, 2012. Defendant also filed a Motion to Reveal Confidential Informant (#24) on November 16, 2012, to which Plaintiff responded (#25) on November 27, 2012.

Defendant moves the Court (#21) to sever his trial from his co-defendant's under Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 14, which provides relief from joinder if it appears Defendant would be prejudiced. Co-defendants jointly charged are, prima facie, to be jointly tried. See Fed. R. Crim. P. 8; see also United States v. Gay, 567 F.2d 916, 919 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 435 U.S. 999, 98 S.Ct. 1655, 56 L.Ed.2d 90 (1978). The Court may grant severance if the defendant demonstrates that the prejudice of a joint trial manifestly outweighs the dominant concern of judicial economy. United States v. Doe, 655 F.2d 920, 926 (9th Cir. 1980). Prejudice occurs "only if there is a serious risk that a joint trial would compromise a specific trial right of one of the defendants or prevent the jury from making a reliable judgment about guilt or innocence." Zafiro v. United States, 506 U.S. 534, 539 (1993).

Defendant first argues a joint trial would prejudice him because it would deny Defendant access to exculpatory testimony of the co-defendant. To obtain severance on this ground, Defendant must show that (1) he would call the co-defendant at a severed trial, (2) the co-defendant would in fact testify, and (3) the testimony would be favorable to Defendant. See United States v. Reese, 2 F.3d 870, 892 (9th Cir. 1993). Although Defendant represents that he may call the co-defendant at a severed trial and the co-defendant may testify, the Court finds Defendant does not make the showing required under Reese. Defendant next argues that the jury might find Defendant "guilty by association" in a joint trial. Limiting instructions explaining how and against whom certain evidence may be considered, however, can reduce or eliminate possible prejudice. See United States v. Fernandez, 388 F.3d 1199, 1243 (9th Cir. 2004). Finally, Defendant argues severance is required under Bruton v. United States, 391 U.S. 123 (1968), claiming co-defendant, who may not be available for cross examination at a joint trial, made statements incriminating Defendant. Plaintiff and Defendant both represent that the co-defendant's statements merely admit the co-defendant's knowledge of the contraband underlying this case. The Court finds such statements do not require severance under Bruton.

Defendant also moves the Court (#24) to order the disclosure of confidential informants in this matter. An informant's identity must be revealed whenever it is "relevant and helpful to the defense of the accused." United States v. Rowland, 464 F.3d 899, 909 (9th Cir. 2006). Plaintiff represents, however, that it "conducted a diligent search" for a confidential informant in this case, and has found none. Accordingly,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Defendant Anthony Manuel Salome's Motion to Sever (#21) is denied without prejudice.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant's Motion to Reveal Confidential Informant (#24) is denied.

DATED this 4th day of December, 2012.
